Supported Decision Making and Guardianship

Presented by Joshua Cook, Associate Director
The ARC of Ohio, Columbus

Guardianship is a legal process whereby the courts determine a person to be 'legally incapacitated' and unable to make personal decisions.

Supported decision-making is a collaborative and inclusive approach to assisting individuals in making healthy, self-fulfilling decisions without stripping individuals of their right to self-determination. It is a process of supporting and accommodating an adult with a disability through a trusted network.
